New Residential and Commercial Space Available at Park 215

Charter Oak Communities (COC) is pleased to announce that Park 215 is now available for occupancy! Park 215 is a brand new residential and commercial “mixed use” building located at the corner of Stillwater and Merrell Avenues, fronting the always bustling Lione Park.

As COC’s next contribution to the revitalization of Stamford’s historic West Side, Park 215 anchors the thriving Vita Health & Wellness District, joining Stamford Hospital, the expanded Boys & Girls Club and Fairgate Farm. Within easy walking distance of Stamford’s vibrant downtown and the Mill River Park, Park 215 offers something for everyone!

Park 215 is a state-of-the-art, energy efficient building, tastefully clad in brick, precast stone and stucco finishes with lush landscaping at street level. With a ‘retro’ vibe featuring oversized windows and a classic storefront, the 5½-story loft-style building blends perfectly into the neighborhood’s traditional architecture. A dedicated parking structure located to the north of the building has an upper level which is accessed from Stillwater Avenue, and is for ground-floor commercial tenant use; the lower level, accessed from Merrell Avenue, is reserved for building residents and visitors.

Amenities available to all residents at Park 215 include an event kitchen, community room and sunny, outdoor roof-top deck. On-site property management, resident support and security services are provided. The apartments feature hardwood kitchen cabinetry, granite countertops, ceramic tile finishes, stainless steel kitchen appliances and individually controlled heating and air conditioning.

Currently, there are two commercial tenants for the ground floor; that space exceeds 21,000 square feet configured for state-of-the-art medical offices. The Heart Center, offering cardiovascular care, will open by August, and the Vascular Group is anticipating occupancy for this fall. COC is working with the commercial broker on leasing the remaining available space.

Resident Profile: Jonathan Hart

Jonathan Hart with RSC Jean Vaccaro.

A lifelong resident of Stamford and a 10-year resident of Post House, Jonathan is thrilled to share his story with us on his journey of change.

At 12-years-old, Jonathan had a devastating skateboard accident which resulted in disabling injuries and years of chronic pain that have affected his quality of life since that day.

With his life altered by the continuing pain, Jonathan began searching for an orthopedic surgeon who would take on his case and also take his medical insurance. Jonathan's only option was Yale New Haven Hospital. Challenged by finances and the distance, Jonathan met with Resident Service Coordinator (RSC) Jean Vaccaro from Family Centers at Post House. Jonathan told Jean his childhood story along with his current position including finances and the distance involved getting to the hospital and rehabilitation.

Jean began to research orthopedic surgeons in the Stamford area. After many attempts, it appeared that Yale New Haven Hospital was Jonathan’s only option. Jean continued to research and discovered The Hospital for Special Surgery (HSS) from New York City currently maintains a practice at Stamford Hospital.

Jean called the HSS office and told them Jonathan's story and his difficulties in finding a surgeon in the area that would accept his case. A few days later Jean received a call from HSS with an appointment in November 2017 for Jonathan to have a consultation with a surgeon. After meeting with a doctor – which included many tests and MRIs – the doctor believed he could help Jonathan by doing a total hip replacement on both hips and reconstructing the muscles in his right leg. The doctor stated that this would enable him to no longer walk with a limp, as his two legs would then be equal in length. It also would help mitigate the pain.

On January 16, 2018, Jonathan had a successful first surgery performed on his left hip. He then worked diligently on his physical therapy at home and at the Tully Center in Stamford. Then, on March 30, 2018, Jonathan had a second successful surgery for his right hip, and again, worked hard at his physical therapy. HSS is pleased with his progress; better yet, Jonathan is amazed with the outcome! HSS has suggested a knee replacement for Jonathan this summer to complete his case and have him walk without a limp.

Jonathan visits Jean often to keep her up-to-date on his medical progress. She also helps him book his rides with VEYO transit through Huskey Health, a service for disabled individuals to get to doctor and physical therapy appointments. Today, Jonathan enjoys life more than ever – visiting with friends and walking to the Mill River Park, Ferguson Library and the downtown area. He no longer feels the isolation he once felt.

Jonathan is happy and thankful for his improved motion and for being pain free. “This surgery was a gift from God,” he says, “and Jean Vaccaro is my angel. I’m forever grateful!”

West Side Youth Make an Impact

By Nicole Beckham, Resident Service Coordinator (RSC) with Family Centers

Resident Service Coordinators (RSC) with Family Centers, in conjunction with a group of devoted young volunteers from the West Side of Stamford assembled “Angel Bags” for the Pacific House Shelter. The West Side “Angel Bags” are gallon-size Ziploc bags filled with toiletries including soap, toothbrushes, toothpaste, deodorant, lotion, energy drinks and Starbucks gift cards.

Leroy Jordan from the Pacific House Shelter in Stamford received the bags on behalf of the homeless population that Pacific House is connected to. Jordan spoke with the kids about their ‘act of kindness’ in assembling the “Angel Bags” and led a discussion around the value of education and staying in school to create a better life for themselves. He further shared the fact that many homeless people refuse to come into a shelter, so these donations will go directly to those in need on the streets.

Our young volunteers were surprised and amazed that such a small act of kindness could have such a great impact on people in need. This group plans to continue their community service efforts. Keep a watchful eye for their flyers in the fall when they begin collecting items for the fall and winter months. They will be looking for new socks, hats, scarfs, gloves, underwear, handwarmers, toothbrushes, toothpaste, deodorant and protein bars.

“I’m so proud of this group of kids and teenagers who participated in this community service opportunity,” states Nicole. Impressed with how they came up with this selfless idea to continue helping others in need, these kinds of generous acts are something that we can all practice to better our community!
